

MASTER OF ARTS IN ART (ART HISTORY & VISUAL CULTURE)

Web Site: <https://twu.edu/visual-arts/graduate-programs/art-history/>

As a graduate student in our Art History and Visual Culture program, you have the opportunity to explore visual art through an interdisciplinary perspective, developing knowledge and skills in Multicultural Women's and Gender Studies and/or Studio Art, you will analyze the visual world through historical, social, and cultural lenses. Our program will prepare you for engagement in a contemporary arts world through our focus on critical and creative inquiry, learn-by-doing approach, effective written and oral communication skills, and social justice-based perspectives. You will also benefit from our smaller program size, which fosters one-on-one interaction and mentorship with faculty.
