

MASTER OF SCIENCE IN HEALTH STUDIES

Web Site: <https://twu.edu/health-studies/graduate-programs/ms-in-health-studies/>

The Master of Science in Health Studies program prepares students to work as health educators. As a health promotion/health education program, the M.S. program prepares students to promote health and wellness across diverse settings. Such settings include health departments, hospitals, clinics, nonprofit agencies, corporate wellness programs, and community health settings. Graduates are eligible to take the MCHES® Exam to become Master Certified Health Education Specialists.